Andy Shaw went into business himself at the ripe old age of 23, and then spent 11 years figuring how to get rich, whilst building a business with well over 100 people. He soon got fed up trying & getting nowhere so became a multi-millionaire investing in property in under 7 months, having a truly fantastic time for 7 years before the property crisis that struck at the start of the 21st century.

He still is apparently the best selling UK author on Property Investing, but the major result of all his success was how he became fascinated with doing business online. Andy worked on various niche product launches, doing multi-million pound launches & selling out in seconds not hours. He became fascinated with learning marketing, and then became fascinated about health & nutrition after losing over 140 lbs.

In fact Andy's life was going great, he had developed multiple businesses all around property, but then the credit crunch stopped play, and he was back to square one, BANKRUPT. He said that he suddenly realised he had lost control of his mind, and then went on a very enlightening journey to reach the point that allowed him to fully regain control & the ability to create with just thought again. Something incredible that Andy actually managed to achieve was to create a new language for the mind called Saltori, a system for structured thinking, after finally figuring out why some people can succeed and most can't. He wrote the process down and put it into his two books called "Creating A Bug Free Mind" & "Using A Bug Free Mind".

Andy told me that most people actually just want to know how to become rich, but just don't know where to begin, so the first rule to possess a millionaire mindset is to "Know What You Want," being the rule that virtually every unsuccessful person breaks. So, the trick here is to "Focus on What You Want," and once you have your core dream sorted out and you know exactly what you want, you must first have had it in your mind. Andy then said "You must experience what your life will be like to have had your dream. You keep doing this until you have had it and seen it in so much detail that it becomes something that is now likely to happen. Then you focus on possible routes for you to get there. You provide your mind with stepping stones and lots of them at each step. What I mean by this is you give your mind possible options that it could take to get you to your goal. You are providing your mind with ways to conceive you could actually do it. The stepping stones start from where you are now."

Andy continued on the subject and said... "As you go through this process, focusing on what you want and possible ways to get there. Eventually you will reach a point in your mind where you know that it is not possible for it not to happen, if you just start to take steps towards your dreams. What you have done is created the dream and the possible steps to get there in your mind first. Now by focusing on your dream your subconscious mind can see possible ways to bring it into your reality. Successful people are considered strange people before they become known for their success. This is because they know what they want and are focusing on it."

Andy told me that with this mindset in place, the final steps would be much easier to deal with, and finished off with this quick summary. He said... "Be grateful for having had your dream, wait to feel compelled to act, focus on the step you are on, listen to your hunches, and go deeper into your design. These are in fact the basic steps to cultivating and creating the millionaire mindset, the mindset where you just know you will do it.

If you would like to know more about the Andy Shaw foundation mindset skill which you must acquire to become a millionaire then go and checkout the first five chapters of "Creating A Bug Free Mind," and do read them, as those chapters contain literally DOZENS of great mindset techniques and the full Bug Free process contains HUNDREDS for you to use to create success in your life too.
